POETRY INTERNATIONAL FESTIVAL

LAUREATES & LEGENDS

Today we will get inspired by laureates and legends from around the world. Poetry International organizes the first Poetry Summit with the Dutch Poet Laureate, Babs Gons. This jubilee edition of the festival brings together only the most renowned poets - all recipients of the highest (inter) national honors.

As representatives of their countries, they participate in lectures, conversations, workshops, interviews, debates, and performances. Don't miss it: this special jubilee edition celebrates Poetry International Festival's 55th anniversary with a unique gathering of influential voices!

TIPS

Transforming Wounds – A Masterclass by Warsan Shire

In this interactive masterclass, Warsan explores how poetry can serve as a powerful tool for processing trauma, reshaping memories, and reclaiming one's voice. Together, you'll examine how words can soothe what is restless—or awaken what has long been silent. The aim is clear: to let go of something you've been carrying and to feel a renewed sense of connection with yourself and those around you.

A Dragon in the Halls of Diplomacy
Dragon in the Halls of Diplomacy is a “performative” lecture about the power and limits of “civilized” language. Central to this is a dragon, depicted in a sculpture at the UN headquarters in New York, which reminds us of the wars, colonial legacies, and power structures upon which international treaties are built. But the dragon also embodies a dangerous mechanism: the first step in dehumanization. When peoples are portrayed as monsters, their voices are excluded from what is considered civilized language.

In conversation with Dutch Poet Laureates: on the role and the reverence

For the first time in history, all living former Dutch Poet Laureates will share one stage! On Friday, June 13th, Poetry International brings together Ramsey Nasr, Ester Naomi Perquin, Anne Vegter, Tsead Bruinja en Lieke Marsman.

Together, they will explore the meaning of their role and its reverence: what challenges did they face, which poems and moments have stayed with them, and how do they view the responsibilities that come with this prestigious title? The conversation will be led by Xandra Schutte, editor-in-chief of de Groene Amsterdammer.

Don't miss this unique opportunity to hear the Dutch Poet Laureates reflect on their work, their experiences, and the power of poetry!

Bombing of Poems: Epilogue

On May 14, the Bombing of Poems took place in Rotterdam, where 100,000 poems fluttered from the sky as bookmarks. This poetic bombardment, which previously took place in cities like London, Guernica, and Warsaw, marked the 85th commemoration of the Rotterdam bombing.

During this program, we look back at this special event with its creators, the Chilean art collective Casagrande and discuss the impact of this project and the role of art in commemorating historical events. There will also be time for questions from the audience.

Toilets

At the festival, we make sure to spice up every corner of the festival. As you take a moment's respite in our restrooms, you'll find yourself in the company of poets from past editions of Poetry International Festival. Don't worry, they won't intrude your privacy. They're preoccupied, immersed in their verses with their eyes cast down on their pages. So, carry on in peace: do your thing, while the poets do theirs.

Visitor survey

Poetry International would like to know how visitors experienced the festival. That's why we conduct audience research. Pollsters are walking around during the festival. After the festival, we will send you a survey by e-mail. If we don't have your e-mail address yet, you can also complete the survey yourself via this QR code or via one of the pollsters. Your data will be treated confidentially and will be used for this survey.
